

The Future of UC Funding: What Would Freud Say?

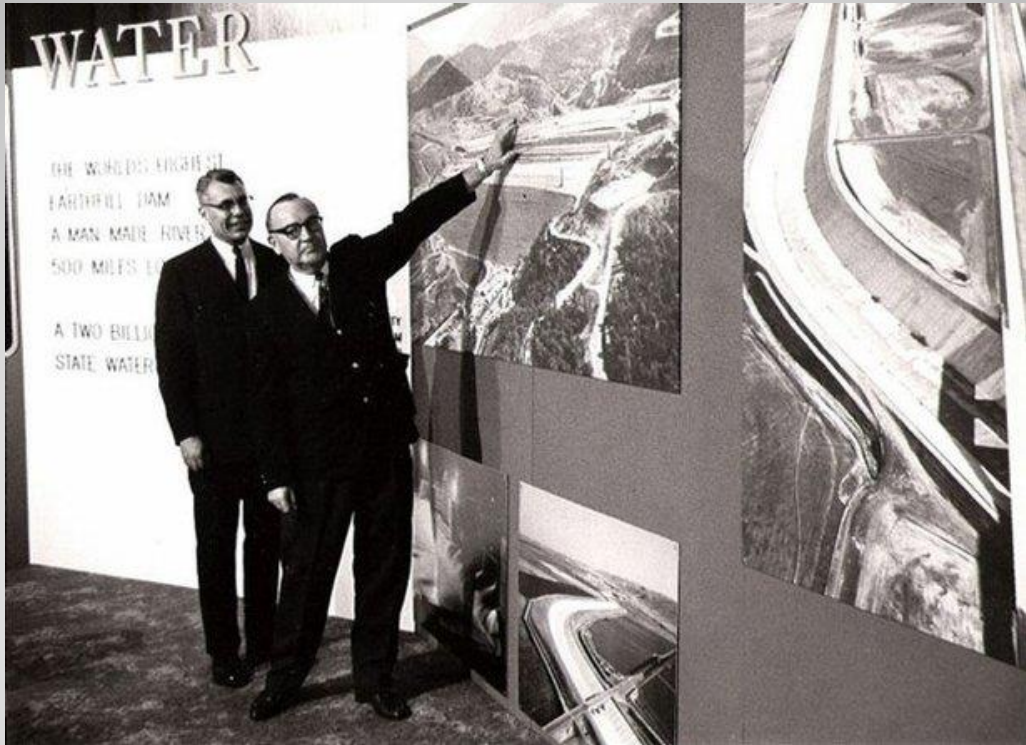

Daniel J.B. Mitchell
Professor-Emeritus UCLA
Nov. 7, 2012
Faculty Assn. at UCLA

Schöne Wirklichkeit (Beautiful Reality)

Daniel J.B. Mitchell
Professor-Emeritus UCLA
Nov. 7, 2012
Faculty Assn. at UCLA

Golden Age of the Golden State

Golden Age of the Golden State

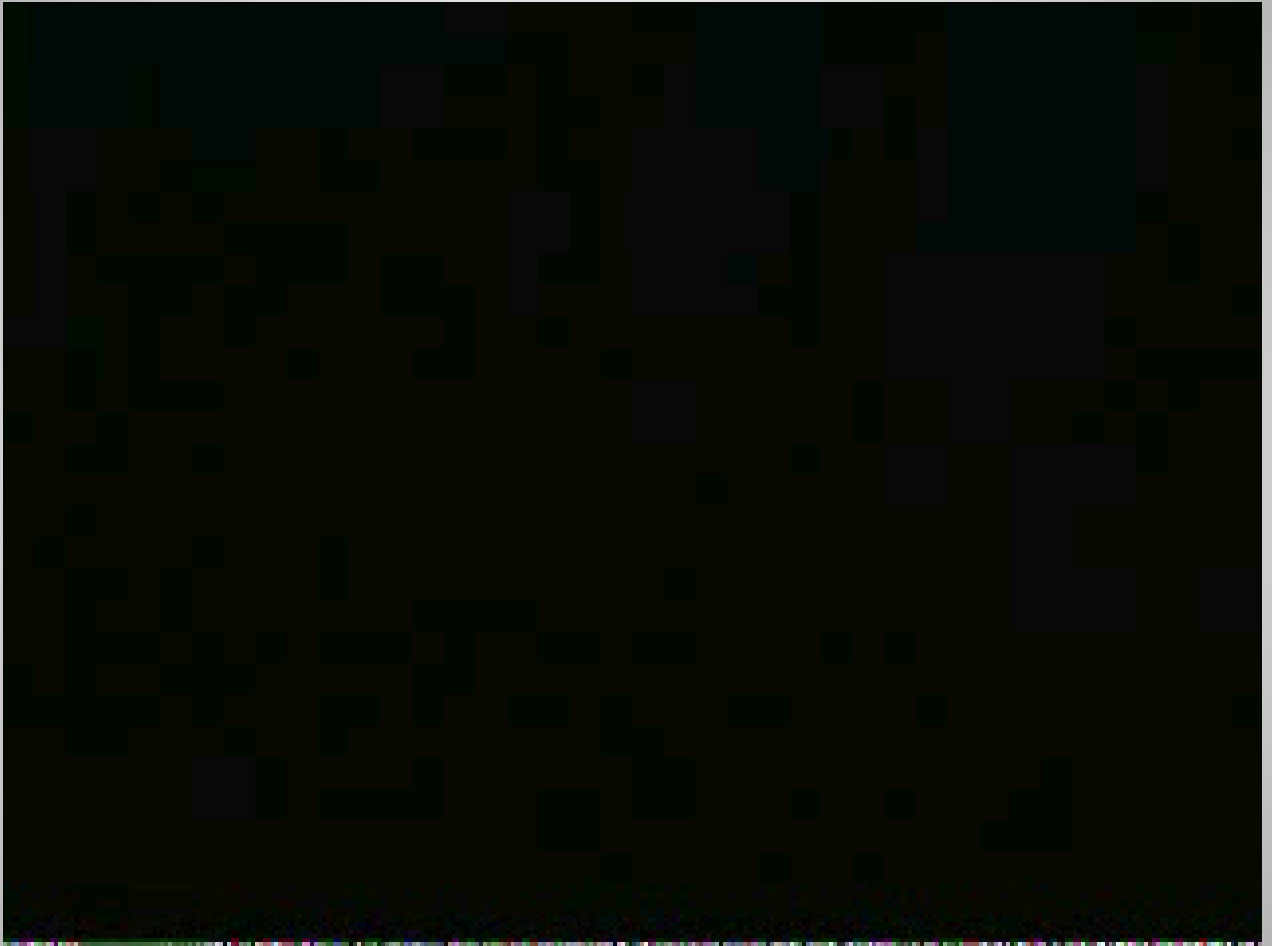

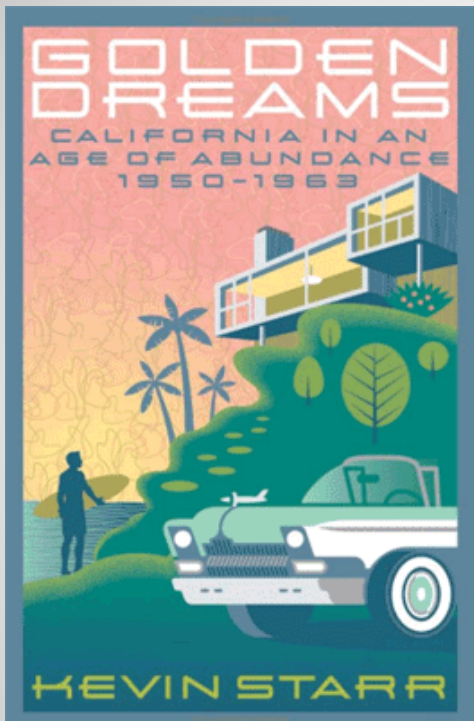

Golden Age of the Golden State

Golden Age of the Golden State

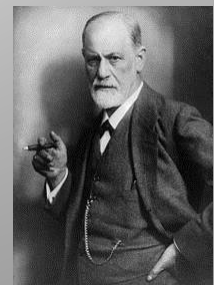

Golden Age of the Golden State

UC President Clark Kerr
Presents Master Plan for Higher Ed to Gov. Pat Brown

Schöne Wirklichkeit

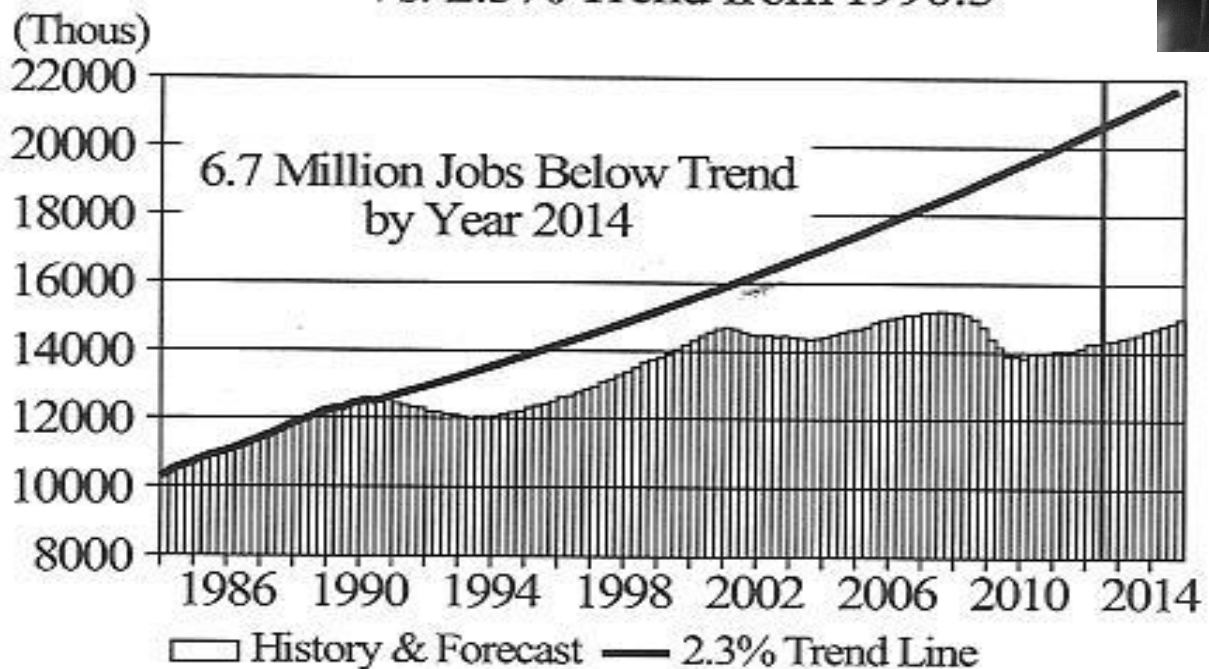

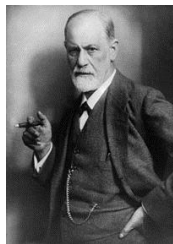

California Population Relative to US

Schöne Wirklichkeit

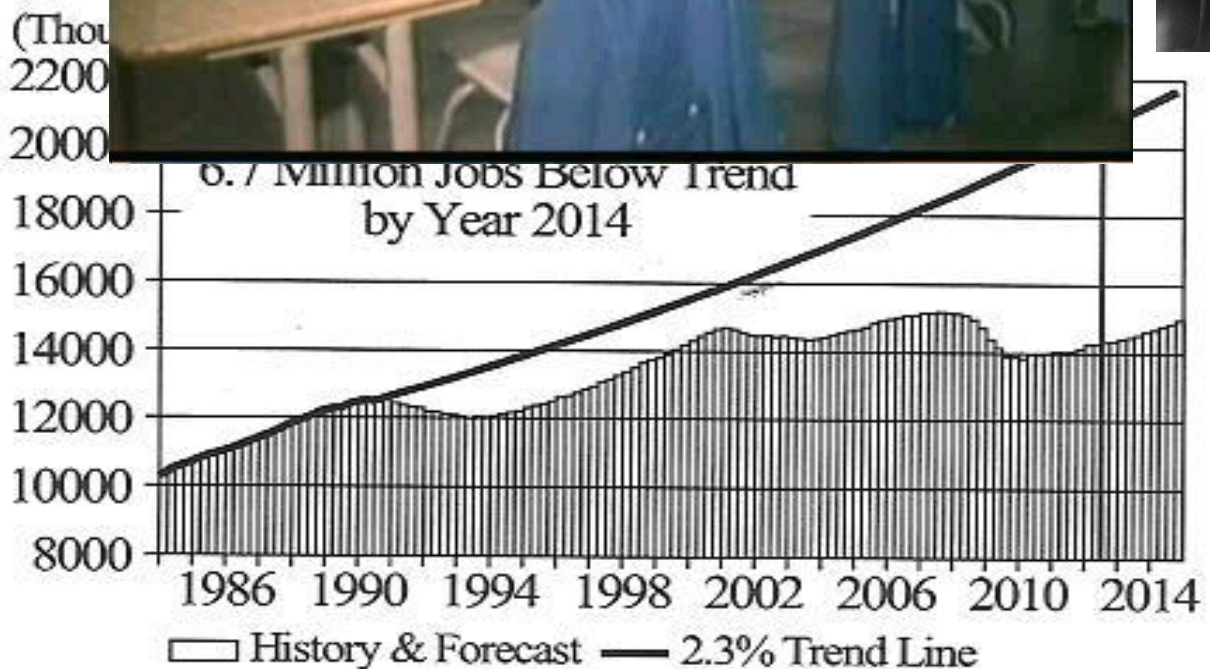

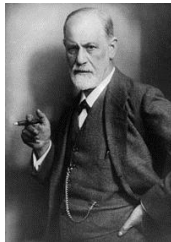

California Nonfarm Employment History & Forecast Vs. 2.3% Trend from 1990:3

California Population Relative to US

Schöne Wirklichkeit

Schöne Wirklichkeit

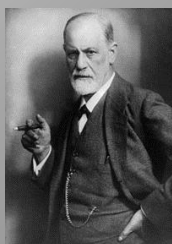

Question

How much did the state spend on Medi-Cal at the time the Master Plan was enacted?

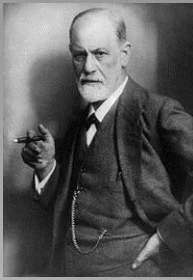

Hint

Same as the number of grizzly bears – the official state animal – that live in California

Schöne Wirklichkeit

More questions

- Why are we uptight about the “self sufficiency” of the UCLA management school when the medical enterprise has been “self sufficient” for many years?
- If UC has a $22 billion budget with about 10% coming from the state, isn’t it “privatized”?
- If the Regents are serious about running a centralized $22 billion system facing budget stringency, how can they claim to do due diligence without an independent auditing capacity?
- Alternatively, if they can’t do due diligence, are the Regents prepared to decentralize the system and provide campus autonomy? What would be the governance system then? Doesn’t the golden age Regental, UCOP, and campus governance structure need re-examination?

Schöne Wirklichkeit

UCLA Faculty Association

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19, 2012

The Governor on Higher Ed and UC

On Oct. 16, Gov. Brown came to UCLA to promote his tax initiative, Prop 30. As part of that visit, he met with UC student journalists at the UCLA Daily Bruin offices. An audio was made of the interview. The full interview runs about three quarters of an hour. It is available at: <http://www.dailybruin.com/multimedia/51093>

However, about thirteen minutes was focused on Brown's thoughts about higher ed, particularly his long-term vision for UC as an ex officio Regent. I think it is fair to say that while he had thoughts, it would be hard to term them a coherent, long-term vision. At the link below, you can hear the higher ed excerpts from the interview. Below that is a summary.

Summary: Brown referred to private fundraising but he didn't seem entirely happy with

PAGES

- Home
- About

SEARCH THIS BLOG

RECENT POSTS

ObamaJam Possible on Wednesday
Oct 23, 2012

The Other Tax: Prop 39
Oct 23, 2012

Stating the Obvious \(on the UCLA Hotel\)
Oct 22, 2012

REMAKING THE UNIVERSITY

- The Election and Higher Education - Monday, October 22, 2012

On the last question, the thoughts of ex-officio Regent Jerry Brown are at:

<http://uclafacultyassociation.blogspot.com/2012/10/the-governor-on-higher-ed-and-uc.html> [Oct. 19, 2012]

The Future of UC Funding: What Would Freud Say?

Daniel J.B. Mitchell
Professor-Emeritus UCLA
Nov. 7, 2012
Faculty Assn. at UCLA